

INDEX

Volume 64
September 1992–May 1993

Titles

Acting funny: high school students stretch their improv muscles	March
Actor training: a guided tour to some good places to study, and some others, by Shelly Frome	January
An actor unprepared: it's time for theatre schools to acknowledge the existence of film, by Richard Brestoff	April
After Our Town , by Dan Bilegen	March
Arts and sciences: researchers use actors to study links between thought and health, by Lucie Usher	October
The audition: preparation makes a good impression, by R. Scott Lank	December
Beyond Punch and Judy: New York festival showcases puppets for grown-ups, by Dorothy Chansky	November
Beethoven's Last , by Lawrence Thelen (play)	November
Book reviews:
Autocad on Stage: A Computer-Aided Design Handbook for Theatre, Film, and Television , by Rich Rose (Chuck Hayes)	September
The Back Stage Guide to Stage Management , by Thomas A. Kelly (Louis E. Catron)	September
The Best Short American Plays 1991-1992 , edited by Howard Stein and Glenn Young (Louis E. Catron)	January
Drafting for the Theatre , by Dennis Dorn and Mark Shanda (Bill Raoul)	January
Handbook of Scenery, Properties, and Lighting Volume 1: Scenery and Props , by Harvey Sweet (M. E. Kirk)	September
Books for voice users: a survey, by Dorothy Chansky	May
Boys will be boys, or else: Samuel French says no to gender switching, by Don Corathers	November
1993 College Theatre Directory	December
A conversation with Kevin Kling, by Don Corathers	May
Cool heads: low-temp thermoplastics make specialty prop and costume work quick, safe, and easy, by Steve Nelson	November
The digital accompanist: Mac's got rhythm, by Don Corathers	September
The door stops here, by Steve Nelson	March
Door to Door , by Claudia Barnett (play)	March
Doug Finney, 1943-1992: educational theatre loses a friend	September
Faxing for props, by Joel Eis	November
Footwear maintenance	April
French drops contract language on gender, by Don Corathers	January
Getting neutral: when you begin to draw a character start with a clean piece of paper, by Shawn Kinley	March
Gotta Dance , by Maura Swanson (play)	May
Great expectations: what college theatre is, and what it isn't, by Ed Lange	December
Help Wanted , by Michael Dixon and Valerie Smith (play)	September
Hope on stage, by Dan Bilegen	April
The IA turns 100: backstage union has been making theatre since 1893, by Lucie Usher	May
Inspiration: only part of the character is in the script, by Allan Miller (book excerpt)	November
Jerry Finnegan's Sister , by Jack Neary (play)	April
The John Philip Sousa Workshop , by Stephen Gregg (play)	January
The literary types: three dramaturgs plumb the mystery of what they do, by Jayme Koszyn	March
Looking for a good script? Try one of these, by Dan Bilegen	November
Lynne Thigpen: with credits from musical theatre to Fugard, this actress defines versatility, by Tony Vellela	November
Making theatre: at the Playwright's Center, young writers learn to think in three dimensions, by Stephen Gregg	March
Mel Gibson, teacher: Hamlet meets Mad Max, by Patte Barth	September
Movies of the mind: Tom Lopez takes radio drama into the digital age, by Dorothy Chansky	April
New every night: school theatre month chair Julie Harris passes on an acting lesson or two, by Don Corathers	March
New plays: the Humana Festival adds six titles to the repertory, by Don Corathers	May
New voices: a Pennsylvania theatre will spend six years teaching a group of students to make art, by Kasandra Dalton McNeil	April
Panic in the green room: thirty strategies for quieting stage fright, by Eric Maisel	September
Paying for it: an introduction to financial aid	December
Personal makeup	September
The Pickles: a different kind of circus is coming to a theatre near you, by James Palmarini	November

A plague of critics, by Clifford Gallo	September
The play survey, by Don Corathers	October
The price is right: Hollywood's leftovers go to school theatres instead of the landfill, by R. Daniel Foster	April
Putting it together: the Hal Prince Musical Theatre Program, by Tony Vellela	May
Score One : theatre that teaches, by Belinda Hopkinson	September
Show biz is my life (but filing still pays the rent), by Leslie Gwyn	May
Singing and dancing for peace and justice: making theatre together to make a better world, by Lucie Usher	January
The stage manager, by Steve Nelson	January
1993 Summer Theatre Directory	February
Suzuki's way: a Japanese director teaches actors to work from the ground up, by Fred Sokol	April
Taking a stand for arts education	September
The tap dance kid: at eighteen, Savion Glover is already a Broadway veteran, by Tony Vellela	October
Thespian Festival '92, by Don Corathers	October
The trouble with script development: too many cooks dilute the broth, by Stephen Gregg	January
The true meaning of Thespians: the show goes on with a little help from its friends, by Janice Harrison	March
Unabridged , by Michael Dempsey (play)	October
What, me juggle!, by Nym M. K. Nevarez	May
The Young Company: at Ontario's Stratford Festival actors come to terms with Shakespeare, by Laura Byrne Paquet	October

35

Authors

Barnett, Claudia: Door to Door (play)	March
Barth, Patte: Mel Gibson, teacher: Hamlet meets Mad Max	September
Bilegen, Dan: After Our Town	March
Hope on stage	April
Looking for a good script? Try one of these	November
Brestoff, Richard: An actor unprepared: it's time for theatre schools to acknowledge the existence of film	April
Catron, Louis E.: Book reviews:
The Back Stage Guide to Stage Management , by Thomas A. Kelly	September
The Best Short American Plays 1991-1992 , edited by Howard Stein and Glenn Young	January
Chansky, Dorothy: Beyond Punch and Judy: New York festival showcases puppets for grown-ups	November
Books for voice users: a survey	May
Movies of the mind: Tom Lopez takes radio drama into the digital age	April
Corathers, Don: Boys will be boys, or else: Samuel French says no to gender switching..	November
A conversation with Kevin Kling	May
The digital accompanist: Mac's got rhythm	September
French drops contract language on gender	January
New every night: school theatre month chair Julie Harris passes on an acting lesson or two	March
New plays: the Humana Festival adds six titles to the repertory	May
The play survey	October
Thespian Festival '92	October
Dempsey, Michael: Unabridged (play)	October
Dixon, Michael and Valerie Smith: Help Wanted (play)	September
Eis, Joel: Faxing for props	November
Foster, R. Daniel: The price is right: Hollywood's leftovers go to school theatres instead of the landfill	April
Frome, Shelly: Actor training: a guided tour to some good places to study, and some others	January
Gallo, Clifford: A plague of critics	September
Gregg, Stephen: The John Philip Sousa Workshop (play)	January
Making theatre: at the Playwright's Center, young writers learn to think in three dimensions	March
The trouble with script development: too many cooks dilute the broth	January
Gwyn, Leslie: Show biz is my life (but filing still pays the rent)	May
Harrison, Janice: The true meaning of Thespians: the show goes on with a little help from its friends	March

Hayes, Chuck:
Book reviews:
Autocad on Stage: A Computer-Aided Design Handbook for Theatre, Film, and Television , by Rich Rose	September
Score One : theatre that teaches	September
Hopkinson, Belinda: Score One : theatre that teaches	September
Kinley, Shawn: Getting neutral: when you begin to draw a character start with a clean piece of paper	March
Kirk, M.E.:
Book review:
Handbook of Scenery, Properties, and Lighting Volume 1: Scenery and Props , by Harvey Sweet	September
Koszyn, Jayme: The literary types: three dramaturgs plumb the mystery of what they do	March
Lange, Ed: Great expectations: what college theatre is, and what it isn't	December
Lank, R. Scott: The audition: preparation makes a good impression	December
Maisel, Eric: Panic in the green room: thirty strategies for quieting stage fright	September
McNeil, Kasandra Dalton:
Acting funny: high school students stretch their improv muscles at Chicago's Second City	March
New voices: a Pennsylvania theatre will spend six years teaching a group of students to make art	April
Miller, Allan: Inspiration: only part of the character is in the script (book excerpt)	November
Neary, Jack: Jerry Finnegan's Sister (play)	April
Nelson, Steve:
Cool heads: low-temp thermoplastics make specialty prop and costume work quick, safe, and easy	November
The door stops here	March
The stage manager	January
Nevarez, Nym M.K.: What, me juggle?	May
Palmarini, James: The Pickles: a different kind of circus is coming to a theatre near you	November
Paquet, Laura Byrne: The Young Company: at Ontario's Stratford Festival, actors come to terms with Shakespeare	October
Raoul, Bill:
Book review:
Drafting for the Theatre , by Dennis Dorn and Mark Shanda	January
Smith, Valerie and Michael Dixon: Help Wanted (play)	September
Sokol, Fred: Suzuki's way: a Japanese director teaches actors to work from the ground up	April
Swanson, Maura: Gotta Dance (play)	May
Thelen, Lawrence: Beethoven's Last (play)	November
Usher, Lucie:
Arts and sciences: researchers use actors to study links between thought and health	October
The IA turns 100: backstage union has been making theatre since 1893	May Singing and dancing for peace and justice: making theatre together to make a better world	January
Vellela, Tony:
Lynne Thigpen: with credits from musical theatre to Fugard, this actress defines versatility	November
Putting it together: the Hal Prince Musical Theatre Program	May
The tap dance kid: at eighteen, Savion Glover is already a Broadway veteran	October
Subjects
Acting and directing
Acting funny: high school students stretch their improv muscles at Chicago's Second City, by Kasandra Dalton McNeil	March
Books for voice users: a survey, by Dorothy Chansky	May
Getting neutral: when you begin to draw a character start with a clean piece of paper, by Shawn Kinley	March
Inspiration: only part of the character is in the script (book excerpt), by Allan Miller	October
Panic in the green room: thirty strategies for quieting stage fright, by Eric Maisel	September
What, me juggle?, by Nym M. K. Nevarez	May
Actor training and theatre education
Actor training: a guided tour to some good places to study, and some others, by Shelly Frome	January
The audition: preparation makes a good impression, by R. Scott Lank	December
Suzuki's way: a Japanese director teaches actors to work from the ground up, by Fred Sokol	April
Careers
The literary types: three dramaturgs plumb the mystery of what they do, by Jayme Koszyn	March
Show biz is my life (but filing still pays the rent), by Leslie Gwyn	May
College
Great expectations: what college theatre is, and what it isn't, by Ed Lange	December
Paying for it: an introduction to financial aid	December
Directories
1993 College Theatre Directory	December
1993 Summer Theatre Directory	February
Opinion
An actor unprepared: it's time for theatre schools to acknowledge the existence of film, by Richard Brestoff	April
Interviews and profiles
A conversation with Kevin Kling, by Don Corathers	May
Lynne Thigpen: with credits from musical theatre to Fugard, this actress defines versatility, by Tony Vellela	November
Movies of the mind: Tom Lopez takes radio drama into the digital age, by Dorothy Chansky	April
New every night: school theatre month chair Julie Harris passes on an acting lesson or two, by Don Corathers	March
The Pickles: a different kind of circus is coming to a theatre near you, by James Palmarini	November
The tap dance kid: at eighteen, Savion Glover is already a Broadway veteran, by Tony Vellela	October
Plays
Beethoven's Last , by Lawrence Thelen	November
Door to Door , by Claudia Barnett	March
Gotta Dance , by Maura Swanson	May
Help Wanted , by Michael Dixon and Valerie Smith	September
Jerry Finnegan's Sister , by Jack Neary	April
The John Philip Sousa Workshop , by Stephen Gregg	January
Unabridged , by Michael Dempsey	October
Playwriting
Making theatre: at the Playwright's Center, young writers learn to think in three dimensions, by Stephen Gregg	March
The trouble with script development: too many cooks dilute the broth, by Stephen Gregg	January
Reports
Arts and sciences: researchers use actors to study links between thought and health, by Lucie Usher	November
Beyond Punch and Judy: New York festival showcases puppets for grown-ups, by Dorothy Chansky	November
Boys will be boys, or else: Samuel French says no to gender switching, by Don Corathers	November
The digital accompanist: Mac's got rhythm, by Don Corathers	September
Doug Finney, 1943-1992: educational theatre loses a friend	September
French drops contract language on gender, by Don Corathers	January
The IA turns 100: backstage union has been making theatre since 1893, by Lucie Usher	May
Mel Gibson, teacher: Hamlet meets Mad Max, by Patte Barth	September
New plays: the Humana Festival adds six titles to the repertory, by Don Corathers	May
New voices: a Pennsylvania theatre will spend six years teaching a group of students to make art, by Kasandra Dalton McNeil	April
The play survey, by Don Corathers	October
Personal makeup	September
A plague of critics, by Clifford Gallo	September
The price is right: Hollywood's leftovers go to school theatres instead of the landfill, by R. Daniel Foster	April
Putting it together: the Hal Prince Musical Theatre Program, by Tony Vellela	May
Score One: theatre that teaches, by Belinda Hopkinson	September
Singing and dancing for peace and justice: making theatre together to make a better world, by Lucie Usher	January
Taking a stand for arts education	September
Thespians Festival '92, by Don Corathers	October
The true meaning of Thespians: the show goes on with a little help from its friends, by Janice Harrison	March
The Young Company: at Ontario's Stratford Festival, actors come to terms with Shakespeare, by Laura Byrne Paquet	October
Reviews
Book reviews:
Autocad on Stage: A Computer-Aided Design Handbook for Theatre, Film, and Television , by Rich Rose (Chuck Hayes)	September
The Back Stage Guide to Stage Management , by Thomas A. Kelly (Louis E. Catron)	September
The Best Short American Plays 1991-1992 , edited by Howard Stein and Glenn Young (Louis E. Catron)	January
Drafting for the Theatre , by Dennis Dorn and Mark Shanda (Bill Raoul)	January
Handbook of Scenery, Properties, and Lighting Volume 1: Scenery and Props , by Harvey Sweet (M. E. Kirk)	September
Play reviews:
After Our Town , by Dan Blegen	March
Hope on stage, by Dan Blegen	April
Looking for a good script? Try one of these, by Dan Blegen	November
Tech theatre
Cool heads: low-temp thermoplastics make specialty prop and costume work quick, safe, and easy, by Steve Nelson	November
The door stops here, by Steve Nelson	March
Faxing for props, by Joel Eis	November
Footwear maintenance	April
The stage manager, by Steve Nelson	January

